Directory of Voluntary Organizations

in the Sandpoint Area

Introduction to the sixth edition (2009)

The voluntary sector plays a vital role filling human needs in many areas. This sector also plays a moral and idealistic role by demonstrating that social problems can be addressed without relying on the threat of force. In their humble way, voluntary groups demonstrate that we can rely on enthusiasm, sociability, and generosity to meet community needs. In a world vexed by violence and coercion, volunteers are quietly implementing the ideal of brotherhood that makes for a better world. I have compiled this directory to help strengthen voluntary groups in our community by helping them connect to volunteers and donors.

This year's directory includes 161 organizations, nine more than the previous edition: 15 groups have been added and 6 groups no longer active have been dropped. The 141 groups reporting membership figures show a total of 21,404 members, and the 98 groups reporting budgets have a total of $9,162,484 yearly expenditures. Clearly, the voluntary sector is a significant part of our community.

I would like to thank Wally Schmidt and Lyn Whaley for their assistance in the preparation of this directory.

Jim Payne, editor

Definitions:

For purposes of inclusion in this directory, a voluntary group is defined as an organization that

- a) has a significant number of volunteers contributing unpaid services to the organization, and,
- b) obtains the preponderance of its resources (cash, labor, and services) through voluntary means (as opposed to depending on taxes).

The organizations in this directory have been grouped in the following categories:

1. Service, philanthropy, and fellowship
2. Social action
3. Sports
4. Health and self-improvement
5. Environment and facilities
6. Arts and culture
7. Hobbies and recreation
8. Production and commerce
9. Education
10. Religion

Stay in Touch with the Directory!

To add a group for the next edition of the directory, or to correct a listing, please supply to the editor the following information. Complete information will help attract new members and donors by showing that your group is well organized and aboveboard. .

1. Formal Organization name
2. Mailing address for organization
3. Phone for organization
4. E-mail for organization
5. Web site
6. Brief description of activities
7. Date founded
8. Budget (Total expenditures most recent year—informed estimate ok)
9. Number of members (i.e. active supporters, donors and volunteers—informed estimate ok)
10. Local contacts, giving names, mailing addresses, and phone numbers. We have space to include three names. (Giving names of local people active in the organization proves the group is a local, community organization. Also, people thinking about joining a group like to call individuals familiar to them, so giving three names under “contacts” will increase your ability to reach out)
11. Can your organization use temporary volunteer workers (for example, high school students for a few hours)? If yes, briefly and specifically describe temporary volunteer opportunity.
